Subject: Official Hillary gets it! The accurate framework narrative for 8th grade

Don't miss this opportunity to transform teens at risk to ignorance into creativity with common core inquiry working to expand basic knowledge necessary to prepare us for future prosperity! Include the PACIFIC section for Californians to open local windows. Focus on Lincoln's life from the Black Hawk War, Pacific Railroad Act, Civil War. Did you know Lincoln's brother-in-law was a founding supervisor of Solano County?

Or are you going to classify him as "European" to discriminate against him and simply exclude - like you are doing in the framework narrative.

Here's Hillary Clinton's opinion.

... In her appearance, Clinton returned repeatedly to the central theme of her primary campaign against Sanders: that the presidency is more complicated than he makes it sound, and the president must be more well-rounded and versatile than Sanders can be. When asked for her favorite president from history, she eschewed the two most recent Democrats: "Sorry, President Obama. Sorry, Bill. Abraham Lincoln," Clinton said.

Her reason, of course, was that Lincoln was a multi-tasking president, leading the country through the Civil War while also pressing for westward expansion, and planning for a future after the war. "You've got to do a lot of things at once," Clinton said.
